

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

FULLER GENEALOGY.

THE NAME OF FULLER.

From the Life of Thomas Fuller, D.D., by John Eglinton Bailey of Stretford Manchester, pub. 1874.

It is not often that the appropriateness — one might almost say significance — of a surname is so marked as in the case of “Old Fuller,” as he is familiarly (but not very correctly) called. His name tends to illustrate the Roman proverb: Nomen et omen. The surname Fuller is, indeed, strikingly suitable to our Thomas Fuller (the author of Fuller’s Worthies). One of his editors has said that his writings compared with others are “not only Fuller in useful matter and varied interest, but fuller in spirit and fuller in wit, in fact Fuller throughout.”

Fuller’s rejoinder to the many annoying insinuations of his name was: “All the jeering on my name shall not make me go to the herald’s office to the endeavour the altering thereof. I fetched it from my great-great grandfather, and hope I shall leave it to my great-great grandchild, a name which no doubt was originally taken from that useful trade without which mankind can neither be warm nor cleanly.” A Fuller is one employed in woolen manufactures to mill or scour cloths to full them—to render them more compact, thick and durable. The districts in which in the fifteenth and following centuries the Fullers are commonly found are the south eastern counties of England, and in these parts they first seemed to have obtained importance. Perhaps the original home of the stock was in the county of Suffolk. This shire was the great seat of the woolen cloth manufacture, with which fullers were everywhere connected. The trade of a fuller whence (as Fuller says) the surname is derived would in such a county be of importance.

The surname of the family occurs with variations, le Fuller, Fuler, fooler, Fulwer, Fulwar.

FIRST GENERATION.

THOMAS FULLER.

THOMAS FULLER came to this country from England in 1638. One of his descendants claims that he was of a high social standing and education. As he came on a tour of observation, intending to return, he must have been a person of wealth, surely one of an inquiring mind, to have braved the ocean voyage of that time, a long, tedious, uncertain affair of months instead of days as now. On what ship he came is not known. The record of ships and passengers are quite complete till 1636, when they came faster and all record is wanting. Where he landed is also unknown, but as accounts show, he first went to Woburn, where he lived nearly thirty years, then to Middleton, and lived there twenty years. He returned to Woburn for a few years, but died in Middleton, where his children lived. The record is given in other places of his military and town offices. The church was almost if not quite, of as much importance as the town then, and "his voice was listened to with respect" in parish meetings at Salem village, where the church, "the old historic church," stood. The district was known as the "Farms," and the inhabitants were called the Farmers. October 8, 1672, the General Court at Boston were petitioned by Richard Hutchinson, Tho. Fuller and others for permission to erect a meeting-house and maintain a minister, which petition was granted. The first meeting of the Farmers was held November 11, O. S., and Tho. Fuller was one of the committee "to carry along affairs." The meeting house was built, a plain wooden structure with six glass casements or windows on hinges. Its mounting stone was conspicuous and needed, as those from a distance came on horseback. Thomas Fuller was one of four who made the minister a gift of forty acres of land on which to build his house.

In the "rate" levied for the support of the minister, and which was assessed according to property, Tho. Fuller pays £8. 6s., and but one person paying as much or more, Nathaniel Putnam paying £9. 10s. He does not appear to have held any church office, a high distinction in those days.

It was in this little church and society that the Salem witchcraft sprang out and spread. The Fullers took little part in public, only serving as witnesses several times, though no doubt greatly stirred and disturbed as all were. Fortunately they escaped all attack by the witches. A new church was built in 1701, the first being too small. Here the Fullers attended church till 1729, when a society was formed in Middleton. Jonathan Fuller, Joseph Fuller, Sarah Fuller, Mary Fuller, Susanna Fuller and Susanna Fuller were of the twenty-four who received letters of dismission and were recommended to the new church at Middleton.

From the New-England Historical and Genealogical Register, Vol. XIII., Oct. 1859.

In 1638 Thomas Fuller came over from England to America upon a tour of observation, intending, after he should have gratified his curiosity by a survey of the wilderness world, to return. While in Massachusetts he listened to the preaching of Rev. Thomas Shepard, of Cambridge, who was then in the midst of a splendid career of religious eloquence and effort, the echo of which after the lapse of two centuries has scarcely died away. Through his influence Mr. Fuller was led to take such an interest in the religion of the Puritan school, that the land of liturgies and religious formulas, which he had left behind, became less attractive to him than the "forest aisles" of America, where God might be freely worshipped. He has himself left on record a metrical statement of the change in his views which induced him to make his home in Massachusetts. These verses were collected by the Rev. Daniel Fuller of Gloucester (a son of Benjamin and Mary Fuller, and great grandson of Thomas Fuller, the first ancestor). He (Rev. Daniel Fuller) graduated in 1764, died 1829. He collected these verses from aged persons, who declare that the author was urged, but in vain, to publish them. Now after the lapse of two centuries we will favor the world with a few of them.

I.

"In thirty-eight I set my foot
On this New England shore:
My thoughts were then to stay one year,
And here to stay no more.

II.

But by the preaching of God's word
By famous Shepard he,
In what a woful state I was,
I then began to see.

III.

Christ cast his garments over me,
And all my sins did cover :
More precious to my soul was he
Than dearest friend or lover.

VII.

Sometimes I am on mountains high,
Sometimes in valleys low ;—
The state that man's in here below
Does ofttimes ebb and flow.

IV.

His pardoning mercy to my soul
All thoughts did far surmount ;
The measure of his love to me
Was quite beyond account.

VIII.

I heard the voice of God by man,
Yet sorrows held me fast ;
But these my joys did far exceed,
God heard my cry at last.

V.

Ascended on his holy hill,
I saw the city clear,
And knew 'twas new Jerusalem
I was to it so near.

IX.

Satan has flung his darts at me,
And thought the day to win ;
Because he knew he had a friend
That always dwelt within.

VI.

I said my mountain does stand
strong,
And doubtless 'twill forever :
But soon God turned his face away,
And joy from me did sever.

X.

But surely God will save my soul !
And, though you trouble have,
My children dear, who fear the Lord,
Your soul at Death he'll save.

XI.

All tears shall then be wiped away
And joys beyond compare.
Where Jesus is and angels dwell,
With every saint you'll share."

If these verses do not give evidence of highest poetical culture and finish, they yet prove genuine Puritan blood, and hand down through the centuries the very laudable reason which induced Lieut. Thomas Fuller (so we find him styled in the probate proceedings on his will) to purchase and settle upon a large tract of land in Salem (afterwards Middleton). And this land, we will say in passing, is still mainly owned and improved by his descendants. He built a house on it near a stream, about half a mile from Middleton Pond and about the same distance west from Will's Hill. He did not reside continuously at Middleton, but for some years dwelt in Woburn, and was one of the first settlers and most active citizens of that town, as its records manifest. He died in the year 1698, bequeathing his remaining land to his youngest son Jacob³, having previously in his lifetime conveyed lands to his other children, by way of advancement. Jacob continued residing on the farm in Middleton till his death in 1731.

From Sewall's History of Woburn.

Thomas Fuller, a subscriber to the Town Orders for Woburn drawn up at Charlestown, in December 1640, was a smith by trade, and had meadow granted him in Woburn at Bagg Rock 1648, and also 4 poles square of swamp next his shop December 28. He bore the title of "sargeant" in 1656, and of lieutenant in 1685. He was Selectman 1663, 1664, and again in 1685, and a petitioner with others to the General Court 1664 for an additional grant of land to the town. He married 13 June, 1643, Elizabeth Tidd of Woburn. His wife Elizabeth dying, he appears to have left Woburn for Salem village (Danvers) about 1664, whence (leaving his sons, it is likely, to spread into Will's Hill or Middleton) he returned to Woburn in 1684, married Sarah, widow of Lieutenant John Wyman and daughter of Miles Nutt, 25 August 1684, and she dying 24 May 1688, he seems to have again removed from Woburn to Danvers and married Hannah ———, and to have died abroad (Middleton). After his death his widow came to Woburn to reside with her married daughters, wives of James Proctor, Aaron Cleveland and John Wilson, etc., etc., whom the Selectmen compelled to give bonds for her maintenance, 21 June 1697.

Extract from Town Records of Woburn, 1640, copied from "Wonder Working Providence of Sion's Saviour in New England."

The "Preamble of Liberties of the Massachusetts Colonies" had the following: "The free fruition of such liberties and privileges as humanity, civility and christianity calls for, as due to every man, with his place and proportion, without impeachment and infringing, which hath ever been and ever will be the tranquillity and stability of Christian commonwealths; and the denial or the deprive thereof, the disturbance, if not ruin, or both."

We hold it, therefore, our duty and safety, for the better disposing of all lands and benefits of the town of Woburne, for the preventing of all troublesome complaints and the maintenance of love and agreement, it is required that all persons admitted to be inhabitants in said town shall by voluntary agreement subscribe to these orders following; upon which conditions they are admitted:—

First order.—For the carrying on common charges, all such persons as shall be thought meet to have land and admittance for inhabitants, shall pay for every acre of land formerly laid out by Charlestown, but now in the limits of Woburne sixpence; and for all hereafter laid out twelvecpence.

Second order.—Every person taking lot or land in said town shall within fifteen months after the laying out of the same, build for dwelling thereon and improve the said land by planting either in part or in whole; or surrender the same up to the town again. Also they shall not make sale of it to any person but such as the town shall approve of.

Third order.—That all manner of persons shall fence their cattle of all sorts, either by fence or keeper; only it is requested, all garden plots and orchards shall be well enclosed, either by pale or otherwise.

Fourth order.—That no manner of person shall entertain inmate, either married or other, for longer time than three days, without the consent of four of the selectmen; every person offending in this particular shall pay to the use of the town for every day they shall offend therein, sixpence. (This order was many times enforced.)

Fifth order.—That no person shall fell or cut any young oak, like to be good timber, under eight inches square, upon forfeiture of five shillings for every such offence.

Among the thirty-two subscribers to these orders is Thomas fuller.

From History of Boxford.

Maj. Gen. Dennison sold in 1663, to Thomas Fuller of Woburn, land in Middleton.

From History of Essex Co., by David Stiles.

On Dennison's claim was found iron ore and a mill was erected, and Thomas Fuller, an Englishman, who came over about 1638, was engaged by Dennison to run the mill, and subsequently became owner in 1663 and erected his dwelling on the site of the house now owned by Charles O. Frost, and his little blacksmith shop stood across the brook called Pierce's brook. The iron puddling mill remained in the Fuller family, in company with the Cave family, for many years and was set on fire, as is supposed, and destroyed by one of the parties to the ownership, then in a quarrel.

The wealth of this Thomas Fuller, and his enterprising spirit and sound judgment, gave to his posterity good positions in society which have been sustained wherever they have been scattered over the world.

From "Salem Witchcraft."

Sergeant in 1656. Lieutenant 1685.

A marked feature of this people was their military spirit. They were kept in a state of universal and thorough organization to protect themselves from Indian hostilities, or to respond on any occasion at a moment's warning to the call of the country. Authority was early obtained from the General Court to form a foot company. All adults of every description, including men much beyond middle age—every one, in fact, who could carry a musket belonged to it. Its officers were the fathers of the village. Every title of rank, from corporal to captain, once obtained, was worn ever after through life. This company had frequent drills. It was almost as much thought of as the "church," officered by the same persons and composed of the same men. It was a common practice at the close of a parade before "breaking line," for the captain to give notices of prayer, church or parish meetings. Such men as Richard Leach, Thomas Fuller and Nathaniel Putnam esteemed it an honor to bear titles in this company and held them ever after through life with pride, whether corporal, sergeant, lieutenant or captain.

In the colonial records under date of Oct. 8, 1662, we find the following: "Mr. George Corwin for Captain, Mr. Thomas Putnam for Lieutenant, Mr. Walter Price for Cornet, being presented to this Court as so chosen by the troopers of Lynn, Salem, etc., the court allows and approves thereof."

The inventory of Captain Corwin (a silver-laced cloth coat, a velvet ditto, a satin waistcoat, embroidered with gold, a trooping scarf, and silver hat band, golden tipped and embroidered, a silver headed cane) indicates the stylish uniform he wore as captain of the troopers. Each of the officers was a wealthy man, and it cannot be doubted that a parade of the company was a dashing affair.

The lapse of time having thinned their ranks an attempt was made in 1678 to revive the company. "Thirty-six men belonging" as they say, "to the reserve of Salem old troop" and very desirous "of being servicable to God and the country" petition the General Court to re-organize them as a troop of horse and to issue the necessary commissions.

Among the signers of this petition are Thomas and Jacob Fuller. The company of troopers was kept up ever afterwards until all danger from Indians or other foes had passed away.

Inventory attested by John Higgenson, Clerk.

Thomas Fuller probably did, as Charles W. Upham says in "Salem Witchcraft" many of the large landholders did, "adopted the practice of giving to their sons and sons-in-law outright by deed, good farms, as soon as they became heads of families, so that as the fathers advanced in life, their own estates were gradually diminished; and when unable any longer to take an active part in managing their lands, they divided up their whole remaining real estate, making careful contracts with their children for an adequate maintenance to the extent of their personal wants and comfort. In this way they had the satisfaction of making their children independent, and of seeing them take their places among the heads of the community. The effect was to anchor a family, from generation to generation, fast to its ancestral acres. It led to early marriages, under circumstances that justified them."

On the 29th of April, 1689, "Deacons Nathaniel Ingersoll, Edward Putnam, Daniel Rea, Thomas Fuller jr. and John Tarbell came to Mr. Parris from the meeting-house," where there had been a general meeting of the inhabitants, and said : "Being the aged men had had the matter of Mr. Parris's settlement so long in hand, and effected nothing, they were desirous to try what the younger could do." Deacon Ingersoll was about fifty-five years of age ; but his spirit and character kept him in sympathy with the progressive impulses of younger men. Deacon Putnam was thirty-four years of age ; Daniel Rea was the son of Joshua ; Thomas Fuller jr. the son of Sergeant Fuller, and John Tarbell the son-in-law of Francis Nurse. This is the first appearance, I believe, in our history of that notorious and most pretentious personage who has figured so largely in our affairs ever since, "Young America." The sequel shows that, in this instance at least, no benefit arose from discarding the caution and experience of years.—Salem Witchcraft.

The Fullers seem to have taken little part in the Witchcraft excitement. In the trial of Tituba the slave, with Sarah Good and Sarah Osburn, Lieut. Fuller testifies with others.

2 JOSEPH FULLER.

PREFACE.

All the descendants of the three first ancestors (Thomas,¹ Thomas,² Thomas³) have not been searched for, only enough obtained to show the line of ancestry of Joseph⁴ Fuller where the present record was originally started. What is given of these first ancestors is mostly obtained from a genealogy published in the New England Historical and Genealogical Register, vol. xiii., October, 1859.

The parentage of Joseph⁴ Fuller of Lunenburg was unknown, and as several emigrants of the name have been credited with it, the proofs of his being from Salem Village (Middleton) and that he was the son of Thomas² are consequently given here for the satisfaction of enquiring readers.

The two church records given show that Joseph and his wife Abigail were from Salem Village or, as it is now called Middleton. There, all of the name of Fuller, sprang from one stock. Thomas Fuller and his family being the only ones bearing that name, therefore, Joseph was a member of that family. There were three Joseph Fullers living in Middleton at the time of the marriage of Joseph and Abigail (1730). One was the son of Thomas,² born Aug. 12, 1679, who married Susanna Dorman. The second was his son Joseph, born Feb. 28, 1712, who married Feb. 27, 1741, Eunice Kenney, and went to Windham, Conn., to live. Their children were Rachel, John and Elijah. This leaves the third Joseph, the son of Thomas,³ as our ancestor.

The marriage record at Middleton reads thus: "Joseph Fuller jr. & Abigail Putnam, were married in Middleton Mass. Nov. 11, 1730." The title of Jr. then did not mean as it does now, that he was a son of Joseph, Sen. It was used when there was an older person bearing that name, an uncle or cousin, and undoubtedly was so used in this case. As there is a deed recorded in Salem, wherein "Benjamin Fuller Sr. of Salem & his wife Sarah receipt in full, to Thomas Fuller & his son Joseph Fuller Jr. both of Salem yeomen, for $\frac{1}{2}$ of a tract of land in Reading. 11 June 1728."

Mr. David Stiles, historian of Middleton, unhesitatingly gives this Joseph as the son of Thomas.³

Ezra Stearns, who is compiling a history of Fitchburg, gives the parentage of Joseph Fuller as that of Thomas³ of Middleton.

FOURTH GENERATION.

— 56 —

JOSEPH⁴ FULLER, son of Thomas³ and Elizabeth Fuller, was born August 7, 1705, was baptized at church in Danvers (formerly Salem Village) Sept. 21, 1707, married 1st, in Middleton, Mass., Nov. 11, 1730, Abigail Putnam. She died January, 1764. He married 2d, in Lunenburg, Mass., February 6, 1765, Mrs. Rebecca Wyman. He died January 5, 1769, in Middleton, while on a visit. His children were:

- +82. JOHN,⁵ born Sept. 15, 1731, in Middleton; married Prudence Gibson.
- +83. NEHEMIAH,⁵ born Jan. 26, 1733, in Middleton; married Mary Conant.
- 84. STEPHEN,⁵ born Jan. 11, 1735, in Middleton; probably died young, as no further records are found.
- 85. MARY,⁵ born Aug. 15, 1736, in Lunenburg; married April 20, 1758, Samuel Hart of Lunenburg. He died Oct. 22, 1770. No record of her death. They had:
 - i. Samuel,⁶ b. Jan. 26, 1759.
 - ii. Abigail,⁶ b. Aug. 27, 1760.
 - iii. Ebenezer,⁶ b. Dec. 6, 1762.
 - iv. Mary,⁶ b. Feb. 25, 1765.
 - v. Elizabeth⁶, b. Dec. 17, 1766.
 - vi. Nathaniel,⁶ b. Sept. 27, 1768.
- 86. ELIZABETH,⁵ baptized May 13, 1739, in Lunenburg; married Sept. 6, 1763, James Bennett. He was born in Groton, Mass., son of Moses and Anna (Blanchard) Bennett. He died in Lunenburg Aug. 11, 1825. No record of her death.

JOSEPH⁴ FULLER was born in that part of Salem, Mass., that is now called Middleton, and married there Nov. 11, 1730, Abigail Putnam. She was daughter of "good old deacon Edward Putnam," a great-grand-daughter of John Putnam, the emigrant to America, and an aunt of Gen. Rufus Putnam of Revolutionary fame. They left Middleton about 1736, as Stephen their third child was born there Jan. 1735, while in 1737 he styles himself of Lunenburg in a deed recorded in Essex Co.

From church records in Salem Village, now Danvers: "Apr 8 1739 After Publick worship ye ch^h being stayed, y^e desire of Abigail y^e Daughter of Deacon Edward Putnam, and wife of Joseph Fuller of having letters of Dismission & Recomendation to y^e ch^h of Christ in Lunenburg, were laid before the ch^h and according such letters were granted her with y^e consent of y^e Brethren."

Records of ch^h of Christ in Lunenburg: "May 13 1739 Abigail Fuller was received into our Communion being recommended by ye ch. in Salem Village."

They moved to Winchendon, Mass. At a meeting held in that place Oct. 31, 1759, it was "voted that Messrs. David Pore, Joseph fuller, Henery Hodgekins, be Surveyors of highways in said Township." They returned to Lunenburg, where she died January, 1764. He married February 6, 1765, Mrs. Rebecca Wyman, the widow of John Wyman, whose maiden name was Reed. They are said to have removed to Winchendon. If so, they must have returned, for in the church records of Middleton is this, among the deaths recorded by Rev. Elias Smith: "Jan. 5, 1769, Joseph Fuller of Lunenburg, with fever, very suddenly, being occasionally down on business at Benjamin Fuller's." Benjamin Fuller was a brother-in-law, having married Mary Fuller, sister of Joseph.

The estate was settled at the rate of one shilling, seven pence half penny in the pound and the account discharged.

PETITION FOR THE PROTECTION OF TOWNSHIP No. 4.

To his Excelanicy and the whole Court,—the petition of us, the subscribers, humbly sheweth, that dwelling near the frontiers of this Province and being hartely Consarned for the Interest of it as being members of the same, pertickelorry that of the most Exterior Inland fronteers, we cannot but attempt a modest Representation of our sentements to your Excelanicy and honors as followeth—we humbly conceive it would be for the Good of the Province in General, as well as the fronteers in partickler that the Township called No. 4 on Connicticut River with the Asshaweletts should be protected and apprehend the Inhabitance to have ben a grate safeguard to all that Lye near the senter of the province, as an arguement of which we might aliedg the Repeted skirmages, those Inhabitance have had with the Indian Enemy, who in all provebilty would have infected the Interior Parts and Consequently would have ben much more extensively mischeveas had they not ben prevented by such a barrer. Apprehending Lickwise that these places, if defended, may be of Singular service to such volinteers on there Return, as may be sent against the Enemy and that it cannot commodore the publick to give the Enemy such a wide extent of Land unsettled as Lys within these Places, and tho, we must express our loall gratetude for the parternall care of the Government in allowing supplys of Soulders to the towns to which many of us belong, yet we can't but think it would have been as conducive to the General savety, as well as to the welth of the Province, to have placed them nearer the Enemies Countrey, for which Reson we shall for the futur Readily submitt to there Removefall to these Exterior Places even tho' it should not sarve our own privitt defence and advantage, — for these Resons not to mention the pitefall surcomstances of these poor inhabitance, we humbly Intreest your Excelancy and honors to protect these strong and Costley Garisons, if such a gracious answer to our prayer sutable obediance we will always submitt and your petitioners will ever pray etc.

FIFTH GENERATION.

JOHN¹ FULLER, son of Joseph⁴ and Abigail (Putnam) Fuller, was born in Middleton, Mass., September 15, 1731, married in Lunenburg, Mass., December 18, 1755, Prudence Gibson, daughter of ^{Jonas} James and Hannah (Goodridge) Gibson. He was for many years a prominent man in the affairs of the town, as selectman, &c. Was a member of the legislature from 1787 to 1792. Was a delegate to the convention for ratifying the Constitution of the United States in 1788, and captain in the 4th Mass. Regiment during the Revolution.

A very fine tree still standing on the common in Lunenburg was planted by him July 4, 1776. It is a sycamore, or as it is more commonly called, button-ball, and is a large and very symmetrical tree. It was planted on the day of the signing of the Declaration of Independence, and zealously guarded by "Capt. John." The village church stood on the same common. In those days people from a distance came on horseback, and a tree was a convenient hitching-place. From his seat in church Capt. John could see this tree, and if any one tied his horse to it he quietly stole out of the church and cut the halter. So the tree was saved, has celebrated its one-hundredth birthday, and but just begins to show signs of old age.

September 5, 1756, John Fuller renewed his baptismal covenant. October 17, 1756, his wife Prudence renewed her baptismal covenant, and both were admitted to full communion October 10, 1762. He died in Lunenburg, February 4, 1801. The epitaph on his gravestone is as follows :

"Hear what the voice from Heaven proclaims
For all the pious dead.
Sweet is the savour of their names
• And soft their sleeping bed."

She died February 27, 1801. Epitaph :

"Let sorrow change to sacred mirth
Know God in love hath given
The pure in heart, who mourns on earth
Perpetual smiles in Heaven."

Their children, all born in Lunenburg, were :

87. ABIGAIL,⁶ born Aug. 30, 1756; married 1st, July 11, 1776, Aaron Buss, son of John and Eunice Buss. He was a captain in the Revolution. He died Aug. 26, 1790, and she married 2d, May 18, 1791, Major Thomas Kimball, son of George and Sarah (Muliken) Kimball. She died Dec. 13, 1802. Her children were :
 - i. Aaron,⁷ baptized May 26, 1793; died April 7, 1799.
 - ii. Abigail,⁷ baptized June 14, 1795.
88. JOHN,⁶ born April 26, 1758; died June 12, 1758.
89. PRUDENCE,⁶ born Oct. 21, 1759; married 1st, Nov. 10, 1785, Clark Carlton, son of Abraham and Mary Carlton. He died April 16, 1787, and she married 2d, Feb. 15, 1791, Andrew Kimball of Rindge, N. H. No children.
90. ELIZABETH,⁶ born Oct. 21, 1764; married July 5, 1792, Joshua Kimball, son of Major Thomas Kimball, who married her sister Abigail. She died April 19, 1796. Children :
 - i. George,⁷ baptized Feb. 2, 1794.
 - ii. John,⁷ baptized Nov. 23, 1794.
- +91. JOHN,⁶ twin; born March 28, 1768; married Oct. 11, 1801, Eunice Wetherbee.

— 83 —

NEHEMIAH⁶ FULLER, son of Joseph⁴ and Abigail (Putnam) Fuller, was born in Middleton, Mass., January 26, 1733, married 1st, "May y^e 4th 1756" in Lunenburg, Mass., Mary Conant. They lived in that part of Lunenburg which was afterwards included in Fitchburg, and his name is amongst those of the first residents of Fitchburg. He seems to have been less active in public affairs than his brother John, as his name seldom appears in the history or records of the town. He or his son Nehemiah served in the Revolutionary war in 1779. Both he and his wife Mary renewed their baptismal covenant July 3, 1757, and were admitted to full communion Sept. 28, 1766.

January 2, 1768, the Church of Christ of Lunenburg "voted to Dismiss and Recommend the following persons (then follows a list of twenty-two persons, among them Nehemiah Fuller) as suitable Persons to embody a chh state of Fitchburg, where a chh is soon to be gathered and of which Place they are Inhabitants."

She died April 23, 1799, aged 66, and with her son John is buried in Fitchburg. None other of the family are buried there. The epitaph on her gravestone is this:

"Here stands her urn,
She'll ne'er return
She's gone to worlds unknown
Her body's dead,
Her spirit's fled
The Shepherd knows his own."

He evidently married again, as this record is found: "Mrs. Hannah Fuller, second wife of Nehemiah, departed this Life 26 Nov. 1802." No record of his death is found, but his will was filed for probate February 5, 1807. He had eight children:

- +93. STEPHEN,⁶ born Aug. 19, 1757; married Anna Lippenwell.
- +94. JOSEPH,⁶ born July 22, 1759; married Eunice Dodge.
- +95. NEHEMIAH,⁶ born Jan. 23, 1762; married Hannah Wiswell.
- +96. AZARIAH,⁶ born May 28, 1764; married Mercy Bemis.
- 97. JOHN,⁶ born June 3, 1766; died March 1, 1787, in Fitchburg.
- +98. BENJAMIN,⁶ born June 27, 1768; married Phebe Poor.
- 99. MARY,⁶ born July 26, 1770; married December 26, 1793, Simon Davis of Rutland, Mass., son of Jesse and Hannah (Estabrook) Davis.

100. HANNAH,⁶ born July 15, 1774; married ~~Forbes~~ Foard. ^{Shedd} Ch. ^{Ford}

No further records of the daughters, Mary Davis and Hannah Foard, have been found.

Mary, daughter of Ebenezer and Ruth (Pierce) Conant, born in Concord, Mass., Feb. 17, 1734, married Nehemiah Fuller of Fitchburg. The History of Westminster gives the following interesting history of the Conant ancestry:

The name is a very ancient one and presumably of Celtic origin. A family bearing it lived in Devonshire in 1327, from which, it is probable, the American Conants descended, their immigrant progenitor, Roger Conant, coming from E. Budleigh, in the same county. Being an enthusiastic Puritan, he migrated to Plymouth in 1623, in order that he might the better enjoy his faith and promote its interests. He was one of the party who soon after went to Nantasket (Hull) to make a settlement. At this time the Dorchester Co., an association of gentlemen, organized for the purpose of carrying on the fishing business along the shores of the new world, resolved upon establishing a colony on Cape Ann, and hearing of Mr. Conant as "a pious, sober, prudent gentleman," appointed him manager of the undertaking, a position he was pleased to accept. He accordingly transferred his residence to the other side of Massachusetts Bay and entered upon the duties assigned him. The enterprise proving unsuccessful as a business venture was ere long abandoned, but Conant and a few others determined upon forming a colony by themselves and remaining in possession of the territory. They soon, however, removed to Naumkeag (Salem), deeming the location more desirable for a permanent home. Meanwhile the English corporation, which had obtained control of all the lands in that section of the country, from the crown, regardless of the agreement made with the Dorchester Co. under which Conant and his associates claimed the right of occupancy, sold the entire tract lying between the Merrimac and Charles rivers to John Endicott and five others, who organized under the name of "The Colony of Massachusetts Bay" with Mathew Craddock as Governor. In 1628 Endicott and 100 companions came over to establish a plantation. Upon arriving they found Conant and his men in possession of the locality they designed to occupy, and there seemed likely to be a collision between the two parties concerned. But mutual statements and explanations were made, friendly counsels prevailed and no serious consequences ensued; Conant and his coadjutors consenting to unite with the new-comers in the spirit of friendly co-operation and harmony,—the place thence forward called Salem, the City of Peace. In 1630 came John Winthrop, who had superseded Craddock as governor of the corporation and who had been authorized to assume control of operations in place of Endicott, the hitherto local and temporary manager. In this way was established the colony which became 150 years later the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, of which colony Roger Conant was the forerunner and in a certain sense the first Governor.

Ebenezer Conant moved to Westminster from Concord, lived there about two years, then moved to Ashburnham.

WILL OF NEHEMIAH FULLER,—PROBATED MAY 19, 1807.

I, Nehemiah Fuller of Fitchburg, in the county of Worcester, and Commonwealth of Massachusetts.—Yeoman.

On the 14th day of June in the year of our Lord 1806, being of a sound mind, but mindfull of the uncertainty of life—resigning myself to the conduct of that great and Good being who presides over all worlds—do make constitute and ordain this my last will and Testament, disposing my temporal interest in the following manner.

Imprimis—I will that all my just debts and funeral expenses be paid and discharged.

Item—I give & bequeath to my son Benj. Fuller all my real and personal estate except what shall be hereafter disposed of—he paying the Legacies to my several children, hereafter mentioned.

Item—I give to my son Stephen Fuller, Fifty dollars, to be paid him within two years of my decease.

Item. I give to my son Joseph Fuller, one hundred dollars to be paid him in two years after my decease and likewise two acres of land on which the house he now lives in stands, bounded as follows viz—Beginning at David Harris corner, thence on the turnpike road eastwardly eight rods. Thence northwardly parallel with said Harris land forty rods. Thence westwardly eight rods to said Harris land. Thence southwardly on said Harris land to the first mentioned bounds.

Item. I give to my son Nehemiah Fuller Jun. and Azariah Fuller, one hundred dollars each to be paid them within two years after my decease.

Item. I give to my daughter Mary, now Mary Davis, my Desk & a pair of shoe buckles (silver) that were her Mother's.

Item. I give to my daughter Hannah, now Hannah Foard a bed and bedding, that were her Mother's. A square four foot Table, a small pocket book with the contents which belonged to my second wife and likewise a blue woolen worsted quilted petticoat that belonged to my second wife.

Item. I hereby constitute and appoint my son Benjamin Fuller above named my Executor, to execute this my last will and testament. Signed, sealed, published, pronounced and declared the day and year above written, to be the last will and testament of the said Nehemiah Fuller in presence of us who have hereto subscribed our names as witnesses in presence of the Testator, and of each other.

AZARIAH⁶ FULLER, son of Nehemiah⁵ and Mary (Cognant) Fuller, born in Fitchburg, Mass., May 28, 1764; married Mercy Bemis of Westminster, Mass. No record is made of the marriage which probably took place about the first of December, 1784, as the following publications are recorded. In Fitchburg: "November 27, 1784, Azariah Fuller applied to be published to Mercy Bemous of Westminster." In Westminster: "December 19, 1784, Azariah Fuller of Fitchburg and Mercy Bemis published as the law directs." Mercy was daughter of Zacheus and Elizabeth (Lyon) Bemis, born Nov. 25, 1763. There is a tradition of a relationship with Mary Lyon of Mt. Holyoke Seminary, which may come through this Elizabeth Lyon. The History of Westminster gives this account of the Bemis family: "According to the best information the families of this name, formerly residing in Winchester, descended from Joseph Bemis, who was born in England in 1619, and who coming to this country appeared as a resident of Watertown in 1640. He was evidently a man of ability, moral worth and religious spirit, as only such were eligible to office in those days—an honor repeatedly conferred upon him."

The following interesting extract is taken from a letter written by a grandson of Azariah Fuller:

"It was my good fortune to know my grand parents very well, as I spent a part of the years of 1833 and 4 with them at Fitchburg. I also saw something of grandfather's brother Joseph, who at that time was a resident of the same neighborhood; and some years before say in 1826 when on a visit with my mother, I saw my great-uncle Ben, who also resided in the same town, and afterwards I saw his daughter that married a Mr. Pratt, who was an exceedingly pleasant lady. I also have a very distinct recollection of our grandmother Fuller, to whom I think we are all greatly indebted for traits of character that have been of great advantage to the descendants of Azariah Fuller. She was a well balanced, faithful, painstaking mother. I think the best traits of all her children came from the conservative qualities inherited from her. The fine looks and showy deportment came from their father."

Azariah Fuller was a man of fine character and sterling qualities. "An honor to his generation." He served in the Revolutionary war. A record of his service is given in his application for pension. He died in Hingham, Mass., March 12, 1846. Mercy (Bemis) Fuller died in Fitchburg, January 29, 1841.

This record of their children is copied from the public records of Fitchburg:

"The following is a list of births and Deaths of the children of Azariah Fuller and Mercy his wife as deli^d to me by said Fuller on y^e 1st of June 1805 and requested me to record them in the Town book, viz

- his descendants* +129. ASA' FULLER, 1st son of Azariah Fuller and Mercy his wife, born at Westminster, 19 Jan., 1785.

Recorded 1 day of June, 1805.

- +139. ELIZA⁷ FULLER, third daughter, was born in Fitchburg, May 25, 1806.
- 140. MYRA⁷ FULLER, fourth daughter, was born in Fitchburg, June 2, 1810; died Aug. 25, 1837, unmarried.

Among the State records of soldiers in the war of the Revolution in Boston, Azariah Fuller appears in a descriptive list of enlisted men belonging to Fitchburg, Worcester Co., Mass. Age, 17 years; stature, 5 feet 7 inches; complexion, light; occupation, farmer.

These applications for pension were found at the Pension Bureau in Washington. He received his pension till he died.

Azariah Fuller, of Fitchburg, Worcester Co., a resident citizen of the United States, makes oath that he served in the war of the Revolution as a private soldier on the continental establishment, in Capt. Wattle's Company, Col. Smith's 6 Mass. regiment, upwards of a year from the fall of 1781, and was then transferred to Capt. Cloies' Company of infantry in the same regiment, where I served six or eight months; when the men who had enlisted during the war were discharged, and those who had enlisted for three years in our regiment were transferred to the 2d Mass. regiment, in Capt. Bradford's company; I was among these and was finally honorably discharged, 4th of January, 1784. My discharge is mislaid. By reason of reduced circumstances in life I am in need of assistance from my country for support.

AZARIAH FULLER.

Massachusetts District, ss.

Boston, 4th April, 1818.

Sworn to before me, M. Davis, District Judge, Mass. District.

COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS.

County of Worcester, ss.

On the tenth day of July, 1820, personally appeared in open Court, before the Circuit Court of Common Pleas, being a Court of Record, within and for the said County of Worcester, established as such by the laws of said commonwealth, Azariah Fuller, aged fifty-seven years, resident in Fitchburg in said County, who being first duly sworn according to law, doth, on his oath, declare that he served in the Revolutionary war as follows:

I enlisted on the 11th day of July, 1781, into the company commanded by Capt. Wattles, in the 6th Regiment in the Mass. line, and was soon after transferred to a company commanded by Capt. Cloies of Framingham. I enlisted for the term of three years and continued in the service until the fourth day of January, 1784, when I was honorably discharged. My discharge is either lost or mislaid and cannot now be found. My original application for a pension was dated April 4th, 1818, and my pension certificate bears date of January 29th, 1819. And I solemnly swear that I was a resident citizen of the United States on the 18th day of March, 1818; and that I have not since that time, by gift, sale, or in any manner, disposed of my property or any part thereof, with intent thereby so to diminish it, as to bring myself within the provisions of an Act of Congress, entitled "An Act to provide for certain persons engaged in the land and naval service of the United States, in the Revolutionary war" passed on the 18th of March, 1818; and that I have not, nor has any person in trust for me, any property or securities, contracts or debts, due to me, nor have I any income other than what is contained in the schedule hereto annexed, and by me subscribed.

AZARIAH FULLER.

Sworn in and declared, on the tenth day of July, 1820, before the said Court.

Attest. ABIJAH BIGELOW, Clerk.

Schedule of the estate of Azariah Fuller, of Fitchburg, in the County of Worcester, and Commonwealth of Massachusetts, applicant for a pension under the Act of Congress of May 1, 1820:

3 chests, $2.75; 5 tables, $4.50; 15 chairs, $4.58 . . .	$11.83
1 looking glass, .89; 1 brass kettle, 1.88; iron ware, 4.77 . . .	7.54
Farming tools, 6.67; cordwainer's kit, 1.87	8.54
4 casks and meat, 4.83; 1 box and 2 wheels, 1.86	6.69
Dishes & plates, knives & forks, Bottles & glasses	9.45
Books, $4.00; warming pan, 1.17	5.17

I have in my family a wife, aged 57 years of very slender health, and two daughters;—one named Eliza, aged 14 years and Myra, aged 9 years. Eliza is very weakly and now is, and for three years last past, has been under the care of a doctor. I am by trade, a shoemaker, but can perform but little labour, owing to loss of sight, the rheumatism and other infirmities.

AZARIAH FULLER.

This extract is taken from a description of the dedication of the monument of Bunker Hill printed in the Boston Courier, June 19, 1843. "The most interesting part of this portion of the exercises was the descent of the Revolutionary soldiers from their carriages and their ascent to the seats prepared for them near the orator." In the list of "these venerable men," which is given with their ages, is the name of Azariah Fuller, aged 80.

JOHN H.^s FULLER, son of James^s and Judith (Houghton) Fuller, born October 23, 1791; married January 23, 1816, Pamela Conant of Winchester, N. H., daughter of Rev. Ezra Conant, a descendant of Roger Conant, the founder of Salem, Mass. Rev. Ezra Conant was a graduate of Harvard College in 1784. Pamela Conant was born April 13, 1799, and died July 27, 1829. "John H. Fuller, Esq., was a native of Walpole, N. H., and when comparatively young came to Keene and established himself as merchant, and here he lived and labored to the end of a long life, and died in the midst of his labors, having attended to his usual business up to the eve of his departure. It is probable that no business man in the country was so widely known as Mr. Fuller. In our railroad and financial institutions he has been a leading mind, while our churches and schools have all been the recipients of his bounties, and to the poor he has lent willing hands and valuable counsel. In his removal the town loses one of its best citizens, and his children a councillor whose wisdom they never questioned." He died February 24, 1869. His children are:

148. LUCY C.,^s born June 4, 1817; married 1st, Lucius D. Pierce, who died Nov. 8. 1858; 2d, Hon. Isaac Stratton, from whom she separated, resuming the name of Pierce.

ALMOND' FULLER, son of Azariah^s and Mercy (Bemis) Fuller, born June 8, 1793, in Rutland, Mass. He emigrated to Erie Co., Pa., in 1810. Worked at his trade, shoemaking, until 1812, when he commenced butchering for the army and navy at Erie, and continued till the close of the war, when he worked at his trade till after his marriage. He then located four miles from Erie in a log house and kept tavern. The place was afterwards known as Wesleyville. He kept pace with the growth of the country, till it became a smart village, and continued in the tavern till 1840. He then went to North East till 1847, when he returned to Wesleyville and lived retired from business. After the death of his wife he lived with his son in Iowa and Nebraska. Through old family letters we hear of him in Buffalo with his brother Asa in 1815. In 1821 he writes from Harbour Creek, and in 1831 his brother John Emery Fuller writes of a visit to him, and adds: "He is doing very well. He is post-master and held in general good reputation. He has been loaded with military honors and has sometimes been very near making all his family captains. As our sister Polly says, she has to command the whole and thinks she should rank as high as General. At any rate she has full command of six smart boys and one girl."

GEORGE⁸ FULLER, son of Aaron⁷ and Fanny (Negus) Fuller, born January 17, 1822, in Deerfield, Mass.; married October 17, 1861, Agnes Gordon Higginson. He died in Brookline, Mass., March 21, 1884. His children, all born in Deerfield, are:

- +361. GEORGE SPENCER,⁹ born Feb. 25, 1863; married Mary W. Field. He d. May 1911 #2015
- 362. ROBERT HIGGINSON,⁹ born Sept. 18, 1864; married June 13, 1895, Bessie A. Clagett. (No. 404.) See Gov. Hughes N.Y.

- 364. AGNES GORDON,⁹ born Jan. 27, 1873. m. June 9, 1900 Augustus V. Tack
- 365. ARTHUR NEGUS,⁹ born May 1, 1879.

George Fuller was the eldest of seven children of Aaron and Fanny (Negus) Fuller. On his mother's side of the family, his uncle, Nathan Negus, was a painter of unusual talent, whose promising career was cut short by his early death. His aunt Caroline (Negus) Hildreth, the wife of Richard Hildreth, the historian, was accomplished in miniature painting and crayon portraiture. His half-brother, Augustus, a deaf mute, the third child of Aaron and Elizabeth (Hill) Fuller, was a portrait and miniature painter, and practised his profession with much success in the New England States and in New York. There is no earlier record of artistic tendency in the family.

George Fuller early developed a fondness for drawing and a desire to become a painter, which was earnestly opposed by his mother. When he was thirteen years old his father took him to Boston and found places for him, first in a grocery and then in a shoe store, but he was soon home again on the farm. When he was fifteen he joined a surveying party in Illinois, then the "far West," and remained there two years, acquitting himself so well that those in charge of the work praised him warmly in letters to his father on his return.

After three years at home, the winters of which were devoted to attendance in the Deerfield Academy, then under the charge of Luther B. Lincoln, and a famous institution of its kind, he joined his brother Augustus in his portrait-painting travels about the country. The example of his brother and his own inclination were not to be resisted, and soon the two were painting together. George Fuller's first portrait was of the bar-tender in a tavern where they stopped in Rochester. He finally decided to make art his profession, being influenced in part by the encouragement of Henry K. Brown, the sculptor. He spent the winter of 1841-42 studying drawing in Mr. Brown's studio in Albany. In 1843 he went to Boston, where he drew from casts and from life, and painted. At this time he became a member of the Boston Artists' Association. He remained in Boston until 1847, when he went to New York, where, in 1853, he was elected an associate member of the National Academy. His portrait-painting excursions extended to Philadelphia and as far South as Mobile, where, thirty years before, his uncle Nathan Negus had gone on a similar errand. In January, 1859, he was called home to Deerfield by the death of his brother Elijah; in the following June his father died. In January, 1860, having an opportunity to visit Europe, he embraced it, going over in a sailing vessel, travelling through France, Italy, Switzerland and Holland, and returning in August of the same year. He made many sketches in Europe, as he had done in the South, but the chief object of the trip was to see the work of artists, the old masters and modern painters, and he enjoyed this to the utmost, devoting himself to it almost entirely.

On his return he assumed the management of the farm at Deerfield, which he loved too much to think of selling. He planned at first to carry it on for five years, thinking that in that time he could make improvements which would render his personal supervision unnecessary and leave him free to follow his art. But that time did not come.

In 1875, when the bubble of inflation burst, he failed with many others, and turned to his brush once more. During the winter of 1875-76 he finished about a dozen pictures, and in February these were placed on exhibition in Boston. It was a trying ordeal. During his seclusion his contact with the world of art had been interrupted, and the pictures which he took to Boston were the outgrowth of his own individuality, which had slowly ripened to maturity. But the exhibition met with so cordial an appreciation that his anxieties quickly vanished, and from that time forward he devoted himself wholly to painting. During the winter he had a studio in Boston, where he executed many portraits, and in the summer he painted figure-pieces and landscapes in his studio in Deerfield. He died on March 21, 1884, at his winter home in Brookline.

A friend, once a neighbor, writes: "The impressions which he made as boy and youth upon his companions would be as difficult to give in outline as one of his heads. There was no lack of humor or of wit, but neither ever left a sting, nor could one of his companions, I believe, ever recall an angry word or gesture, or an ungentle action from George Fuller. Inclined to silence rather than speech, to meditation rather than action, never seeming to have special opinions or theories to defend, he was entertaining in society in a way altogether his own. There was a certain composure, too, in his movements, so that if on a summer evening he pushed through the rose bushes before the window of a neighbor's sitting-room and leaned his arms on the sill to talk, no one was surprised. Indeed, he seemed more at his ease than if he had come in by the door.

His style of painting was as characteristic as his manner. A delicious haze was thrown over all his work that seemed to lift it into the realm of dreams."

FRANCIS BENJAMIN⁹ FULLER, son of Aaron⁷ and Fanny (Negus) Fuller, born July 25, 1838, in Deerfield, Mass.; married December 13, 1860, Caroline E. Munn of Bridgeport, Conn. In the fall of 1861 he enlisted in the band (P. S. Gilmore's) connected with the 24th Massachusetts Regiment. The regiment was in the battle which captured Roanoke Island in February, 1862, then at that of Newbern, N. C., which was fought March 14, 1862. At this time regimental bands were required to act as stretcher-bearers, and were often, as at this battle, terribly exposed to the enemy's fire. All regimental bands, by an Act of Congress, were dismissed, and in July, 1862, Gilmore and his band returned to Boston. He and his brother re-enlisted in 1864, in the Second Brigade, First Division, Second Army Corps, were in the battles fought by Gen. Grant, in the battles of the Wilderness and Cold Harbor, and were at Lee's surrender at Appomattox Court House, May 9, 1865. CHARLES FERDINAND⁹ FULLER, son of Azariah⁷ and Ruth (King) Fuller, born July 23, 1819, in Dunkirk, N. Y., was killed in a mutiny February 11, 1842, at New Orleans. The mutiny was on board the schooner San Antonio, of which he was second lieutenant and at the time in command. The particulars given in the "New Orleans Picayune" are, that the men by some means procured drink and had been noticed in conversation with each other, and the officers supposed an attempt at desertion would be made, but had no fears of a mutiny. One of the sailors asked leave to go on shore, and grew angry when he was told to wait till a commanding officer came on deck. Charles at this moment appeared, and in reply to enquiries was told that the men wished to go on shore, and would go on shore. He ordered the principal offender to be arrested, and the sergeant stepped up to him as if to repeat the order to the marines, when he drew his tomahawk, but failing in his endeavor to strike with it, drew his pistol, discharged it and killed Mr. Fuller at first shot. The sailors surrounded the body, mutilating it, till prevented by officers at the risk of their own lives. He was a noble minded, generous and warm hearted young man, with an uncommon degree of intelligence.
